Isn't It Great to Wake up Here in Warren County?

A Few Random Thoughts...

I don't know about y'all, but it's just hard for me to keep from breaking out in huge smiles as I drive around Warren County during the Christmas Season. Everywhere you turn you can't miss the basic goodness of people and the joy of this time of year...

- Saturday marked the return of a Warrenton original...the Prelude To Christmas and Parade. In spite of the frigid temperatures the crowd was huge and the floats and bands and dance schools and music were outstanding! Santa made his way to the Santa Hut on Historic Courthouse Square and was a big hit with the children.
- The Chamber of Commerce of Warren County kicked off a Christmas window-decorating contest with local stores in Warrenton and Norlina with a grand prize of $75 up for grabs in each town. The creativity and absolute hard work that went in to decorating these stores is absolutely amazing and well worth a trip for you downtown one night in the next week. 21 businesses in Warrenton and 6 in Norlina joined our contest. The judge picked The Warren County Growers' Association window in Warrenton and Norlina Hardware in Norlina as the overall winners with Leonard's Tile, Hardware Café, CC's Showers of Distinction & Friends Two receiving Honorable Mentions. One thing I thought was so special was the fact that both Hardware Café and Friends Two included decorations in their windows that were at least 40 years old and had been used in those stores many years ago. What a great continuation of a Christmas tradition!
- Thank you! In our second year of Santa's Christmas List it took 3 trips filling my truck with 55 gallon bags of toys, books and gifts for Warren County children in need this Christmas. Thanks to your generosity we can help Warren County Social Services make sure our neighbors are waking up with a smile this Christmas morning. Thank you for the hundreds of incredible presents you donated.
- Rebecca Harris of Citizen's Insurance and Bonding has gone above and beyond for the past several years in ensuring that our troops in harm's way in Afghanistan are not forgotten and get a little extra in the way of presents at Christmas. This year, thanks to the wonderful gifts from all of you, she was able to ship 13 boxes out yesterday to arrive in time for Christmas.

Enjoy the rest of your week!---Craig

Christmas Time Means...Trains!

When the county we call home counts a town founded as an important railroad junction (Norlina) and also has another town that built and ran its own 3 mile railroad for over 100 years (Warrenton) AND we had two railroads built just for logging in the eastern part of the county, you know there will be train experts and aficionados here. Among the best I've met is Sears Bugg and his Weldon Train Museum and Electric Train Store.

This incredibly detailed museum features over 150 trains on display, with an emphasis on Seaboard, Southern, Virginian, C+O, B+O, D+H, and the original NS.

Only twenty minutes away from Lake Gaston and Bugg's Island (Kerr Lake) & five minutes east of historic Warrenton beside the Warrenton golf course, the 600 square foot museum is located in the hayloft of a 1947 horse stable and features overhead O Scale trains with 200 feet of double tracks and a sixteen foot train table.

This local treasure features the world's largest collection of K Line O Scale cabooses, freight cars, passenger cars, engines, and catalogs are available for sale, along with a large selection of William's O scale engines.

I can guarantee you that train fans young and old will have an incredible time when you visit this museum. There is also a box turtle rescue and release pen beside the museum that is open to the public.

The Weldon Train Museum & Electric Train Store is located at 577 Highway 58 in Warrenton and open by appointment only. To schedule your visit, please call Sears Bugg (252) 213-5225 or Email him at searsbugg@embarqmail.com

Tips From The Lake Gaston Association

Lake Awareness For The Fall

In this season of winterizing water toys and raking leaves we would like to remind you NOT to rake or blow leaves or other yard debris into the lake.

Yes... leaves fall into the lake all the time - its nature; but nature is a delicate balance and additional leaves stress the lake in many ways.

Decaying leaves consume oxygen that fish and other aquatic life need to survive and releases excess nutrients that contribute to undesirable aquatic plant growth i.e., hydrilla, lyngbya and other noxious algae. This is especially true in coves with lower water levels. It creates dirty water in shallow areas.

Not abiding by this requirement we become our own worst enemy by adding additional nutrients to the water pool.

We should also be aware that most land around the lake is elevated this allows any chemicals from lawn fertilizing or weed control to wash into the lake. You should take precautions when applying any product to your lawn.

Please note that putting grass clippings into the lake is also an activity that is prohibited. This adds phosphorous and nitrogen into the water with significant effects on nutrient levels in the lake.

Lastly, intentionally putting leaves in the lake is a violation of Dominion Power's Shoreline Management Plan (the same document that regulates boat docks and other activities on the Dominion right-of-way) and subject to enforcement action.

During this Holiday season let's remember to give thanks for the privilege of living on this beautiful lake and do our part to preserve and protect this wonderful natural resource.

The Lake Gaston Association works closely with Dominion Power and other agencies around the lake to make our residents aware of good practices for lake care.

Duke Energy Seasonal Money-Saving Tips & Tools

Don't Let High Energy Bills Be Your Grinch

CHARLOTTE, N.C. – Before you go to fa-la-la decking those halls this season, take advantage of Duke Energy's holiday lighting calculator to determine the most efficient way to display your holiday spirit.

Users can identify the type of lights, the number of 100-bulb strands and how many hours the lights will be used per day to estimate the energy cost per day and per month. Based on their selections, customers can receive energy-efficient tips and options.

For example, six 100-bulb sets of large, incandescent bulbs (600 bulbs total) plugged in six hours every evening can add as much as $80 to a monthly power bill.

By comparison, six 100-bulb sets of similarly styled light-emitting diode (LED) bulbs would increase a monthly power bill by only about $7. Using six 100-bulb sets of mini-LED bulbs would increase a monthly power bill by only $1.

Watts cooking?

Turkey, stuffing and pie are just some of the staples of a holiday feast. And, a lot of your energy goes in to mixing, roasting and baking your favorite dishes. Use our cooking calculator to see the total cost of preparing everything from appetizers to desserts.

Money-saving tips to combat the cold

As the holiday season heats up, temperatures will cool down. Help save on your winter energy bills with the following tips:

- The thermostat can be the biggest contributor of high winter bills. Select the lowest comfortable setting on your thermostat when you're home, then lower the temperature a degree or two when you leave.
- Change air filters regularly. A dirty air filter makes a heating system work harder, which uses more energy.
- Inefficient heating can also add to monthly power bills during colder temperatures. Regular service calls from a licensed technician will help to properly maintain your heating and cooling system.
- The ceiling fan is a great way to stay cool in the summer and warm in the winter. Simply set the fans to operate in a clockwise direction, which pushes warm air back down into the room.

- On sunny days, leave your drapes or blinds open to allow the sun's rays to warm the house.
- Wear warm clothing for additional energy savings at home. If you're planning a holiday party this season, consider an ugly sweater theme. That way, you can bump down the thermostat a degree or two while your guests stay toasty and warm.

A safe and happy holiday season

Having a happy holiday means having a safe holiday. Before you transform your home into a festival of lights, follow these tips to stay safe and happy this holiday season:

- Before installing lights, check each set – new and old – for damaged sockets, loose connections and frayed or bare wires. Discard damaged sets or repair them before using.
- Never use more than three standard-sized sets of lights per extension cord.
- Plug exterior lights into ground-fault interruptible (GFI) outlets only. If the home lacks outside GFI outlets, call an electrician to install them.
- Before climbing a ladder, inspect it to ensure it's in good working condition and follow the weight limits specified on the ladder and manufacturer instructions.
- Never use a ladder on or near power lines.

For more tips and information on how to save energy and money visit www.duke-energy.com.
